LIVELY TORNADO IN THE PERDIDO COUNTRY

TWISTER, ACCOMPANIED BY HAIL, STORM CAUSES MUCH DAMAGE. NEWS NOTES OF BEULAH SETTLEMENT.

Special to The Journal.

Beulah, April 15.—Thursday was a cold, rainy day, and a chair by the fire was a good place to stay.

This section was visited by quite a lively little hail and wind storm last Friday evening. We got out in the rain and got some of the hail, which was about 1/4 of an inch in diameter and 1/2 of an inch thick in the form of a disk. But it only lasted a short time and did no damage to vegetation, but the wind was a different proposition. At my old place, a quarter of a mile from where I now live it uprooted trees, turned over outhouses, shattered rail and board fences and raised the mischief generally. I appear to be the only one that I hurt in this neighborhood, as I have not heard of it doing any damage anywhere else. It will take me a week to straighten things up again. It seemed to have been a small twister, as things were blown in every direction.

Crops look well, particularly Irish potatoes; this wet, cool weather seems to just suit them. We are having strawberries now, but they ripen very slowly, it is so cool. And I want to say right here, plant strawberries either for home use or for market and you will not be disappointed, for they yield well, come early, are at home in this soil and are not troubled by any insect pest that I know of, and are the least trouble to grow of anything that I have tried.

The scale has killed a great many peach trees here, but from what I can see around me here, it can be controlled to a great extent if not stopped altogether, by proper care given trees by sprinkling, using the different washes and good fertilizing to keep the trees growing, and as the San Jose scale is prevalent all over the country north and south alike, this Perdido country has as good or better chances to make money than anywhere else raising fruit, as the prices in Pensacola are so high. One of my neighbors sold May peaches last spring for five dollars per bushel.

Our mail route is increasing in popularity. New boxes are being put up every little while, and as every box requires a stop it makes our mail carrier a little later than heretofore. But as he is good natured, and willing to do the fair thing by the patrons of the route, he don't care if he is a little late getting home.

A. J. Bushee and wife, were in Pensacola last week to consult a physician in regard to Mrs. Bushee's health, she having been under the weather for some time. She stopped at Bayou Moccasin to make her mother, Mrs. Ray, a visit for a few days, and has not returned yet. We all hope she will be restored to her usual health soon.

Mr. Ben Waters was a business visitor to the city last Saturday. He is one of the progressive farmers of this community, up-to-date in his methods and always has something to sell when he goes to town.

Wiley Weaver was in the city one day last week with dressed pork, which he says is ready sale at 8 cents per pound. It looks like there ought to be money in it at that price, for this market does not require pork to be as fat as in the north. Hogs get most of their living in the woods, with a little corn to finish them they are ready for market. He is quite extensively engaged in raising hogs and says it pays.

A. J. Malone, of your city, has just finished fencing a large pasture on his farm here to accommodate his increasing cattle business. His brother, B. Malone, is doing the work.

James Bryant has recovered from his recent spell of sickness or thinks he has sufficiently recovered to allow him to return to his work at Seminole, but I think another week's rest would have helped him to resist those Alabama shakes better. But Jim is a hustler and it takes more than one shake to lay him out.

Ex-Commissioner Shelby had business in the city last Saturday.

Mrs. Steagall and family were Pensacola visitors last Saturday.

Mr. Will Garrett and little sister, Madonna, were in the city last week doing some trading and visiting their friends.

Miss Mary Fisher and Miss Mattie Malone were calling on some of their friends here one day last week.
